IRRIGATION EXTENSION

Last week in Lethbridge was celebrated the Silver Anniversary of the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation project, which has proven abundantly the value of irrigation. Addresses were given by Hon. C. D. Howe, P. M. Sauder and others.

P. M. SAUDER

Following is part of the address given by Mr. Sauder, knowing our readers will find it interesting and informative. In Southern Alberta, we have some of the richest soil on this continent that did not produce before irrigation was applied because of the deficiency in rainfall. Irrigation from mountain-fed streams makes up for the deficiency in rainfall.

The primary purpose of providing irrigation is to increase production and eliminate the hazard of drought and crop failure. The control of moisture through irrigation affords a high

FORM YOUNG PEOPLES

Following a service in St. Michael's on Sunday evening, a group of young people met in the factory to enjoy a fireside hour. A talk on "music appreciation," illustrated by recordings was given by the Rector. It was agreed that since the group had been meeting for a considerable time without officers, the time had come to organize. The following were elected to office: President, Pat Morgan; Vice-President, Neil Weaver; Secretary, Mary Snook; Treasurer, Frank Bishop; Refreshments, Edna and Eddie Vermont; Programme, Jimmy Brown and Bill Morgan.

Plans were then made for future activities, beginning with a court-whist to be held on October 30th.

SMOKER FOR BASEBALL CHAMPS

PRESENT 16 SWEATERS TO TEAM

About thirty-five members of the Strathmore Baseball Club and their ladies gathered at the Memorial Hall on Friday evening to have an end-of-the-season get-together. Chairman for the evening was J. A. Tench, and he saw to it that the program, a lively one, kept on the move throughout.

During the course of the evening, Jack Crellin led a number of baseball quizzes, and sing song interspersed the contents. The toast to the ladies was given by T. S. Hughes, in very jolly manner, and wittily replied to by Mrs. A. Morton.

Lions Conduct Auction Sale

Only two weeks away is the huge auction sale planned by the Lions Club of Strathmore. It will be held on November 9th, with the sale of stock taking place in the skating rink while the other material, more assorted in nature, will be sold on one of the vacant lots in the heart of town.

The committee in charge have put forth a great deal of work in collecting items for the sale, and donations are pouring in rapidly. Nearly every merchant in town is acting as a receiving centre, and stocks in some cases may be seen on display.

The committee feel that they have been fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Henry Gilchrist as auctioneer for the sale. Mr. Gilchrist is well known through this area, and will be popular with the crowd.

People with articles to donate, or which they may wish to be sold on commission are asked to leave their articles with any of the merchants on Main Street who are collecting such items.

Mission Renewal at Sacred Heart

Beginning Sunday, October 27 and concluding October 31, there will be mission renewal services at Sacred Heart Church, Strathmore, conducted by Rev. Father Bennett, C.S.S.P. The services will then be conducted in St. Philip's Church, Carleton Place, from November 1st to 3rd.

BERRY VALE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The meeting on October 16th was held at the home of Mrs. L. Hilton. Current Events as roll call was answered by 5 members. Flannellette was purchased for Bazaar articles. Motion was put through that half a dozen silver teaspoons be given to brides of the district and also to members on their 25th anniversary.

Tickets are to be sold on a lovely pair of pillow cases made by Mrs. Way, to be drawn for at the Bazaar. Cards were sent to Mrs. Brook and Mrs. Plath who have been under the Doctor's care. A gift was purchased for the Bazaar baby.

The Bazaar will be held on November 15th at the Serviceberry community hall. The meeting adjourned to meet again October 24th at Mrs. P. Hiltons with Current Events as roll call and 10c grab box. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Kearns, which ended another enjoyable afternoon.

Cancer Prevention Film At Home & School Meeting

On Monday, October 23 at 8:00 p.m. in Memorial Hall there will be a short business meeting. The speaker will be Mr. George Pettinger, Secretary, Canadian Cancer Association Alberta Section. Films will be shown.

The concert will consist of Health Play, Grades Five and Six, Strathmore school.

Chorus, Music 1 Class Strathmore High School. Calgary Artists. Everybody welcome.

Place Safety Line On Highways

Alberta is to have a white centre strip on its main highways as a further precaution against accidents, according to information received by the Alberta Motor Association. This new marking will commence in the southern part of the province and will be advanced as far as possible during the current season.

Provincial officials feel that the centre strip which is used extensively in the U. S. will be a distinct aid to safe motoring in the province.

Another step is to place a layer of sand on the blacktop surfacing of main highways. This is expected to meet the objections of motorists to the blacktop which, they claim, had the effect of deadening the effect of headlights. With a fine light sand in use, the lights will function more efficiently when a car is being operated over blacktop surfacing.

Provincial officials also say that the sand will be worked into the blacktop and serve to improve and strengthen the surface before the final hard surfacing is laid.

STRATHMORE A. T. A. MEETING

The regular meeting of the Strathmore branch of the A.T.A. met in the Carlsland High School on Wednesday evening, October 16th.

After the reading of the minutes by the secretary, Miss M. Skjei, an invitation was extended to the members to meet at Orange Valley School on the 20th of November.

The question of Teacher's Salaries was brought up by the President, Mr. Crowther, and there was some discussion.

Then a book on Education, by Sir Richard Livingstone was introduced by Mr. Crowther, and the theme was presented in such an attractive and instructive way that much interest was aroused.

Mr. Heibert was appointed to conduct the study and discussion on the first chapter entitled "The Educational Program," at the next meeting.

At the close of the meeting the entertainment furnished by the Carlsland staff, took the form of a lively and enjoyable game of Whist, followed by a delightful lunch.

THE OUT-SIDE

EDMONTON—"No change will be allowed in the price of milk by the glass or in the price of other dairy products affected by any milk control board decision to allow an increase in price of milk, without application to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board Services Administration", Mr. H. J. Roche, services officer for the Alberta region emphasized today.

Rockyford Grain Clubbers Capture Show Honors At Drumbeller

Members of the Rockyford Grain Club took all the honours at the competition among Junior Grain Clubs held on Saturday at Drumbeller. Clubs entered in the show were Craigville, with a showing of Thatcher, Drumbeller with an entry of Marquis, Rockyford, showing Red Bobs, and Wayne with a display of Marquis.

Part of the Hall was reserved for each Club, which had to set up its own display.

The Drumbeller group used the Hall's own scheme, the Rockyford club used a sunburst background with uniform jars in which each entry of grain was displayed. Wayne used a foreground of light colour with uniform sheaves of grain in the background, and Craigville used jars to display their samples of grain, with an individual competition among club members for the best prepared sheaves for individual plots.

The Rockyford Club held the winning entry of wheat, which weighed 67 pounds per bushel. Six samples of wheat from this show will be sent to the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto.

The Rockyford Club won also the Tushack Trophy and prize for the best prepared exhibit.

Judges of the competition were high in their praise for the work done and the samples entered. Of sixty exhibits entered, only three were found with weed seeds. The work of the Rockyford Club was done under instruction and supervision of R. J. Milne, District Agriculturist.

FARMING NEWS

WHAT'S IN THE LUNCH BOX?

We're becoming increasingly aware of the fact that Canadians don't eat enough vegetables, and every conscientious mother wants her boy or girl to have the best possible chance for health. But as she packs some nice crisp cabbage or carrots into the lunch box ten year old Billy comes along -- "Aw Mom! I don't want that stuff. The kids all laugh at me and call me a rabbit! 'Plee-eease Mom!' Or, as she screws the top onto a nice little jar of salad, fifteen year old Mary pleads "Oh Mother, Jane and Marj don't have to eat salads, why do I?"

It doesn't do any good to tell them "It's good for them" says Miss E. Joyce Lewis, Nutritionist for the Alberta Department of Agriculture's Home Economics Division. In the end that only defeats our purpose. Let's try to find new ways of preparing our school lunch vegetables. When Billy and Jane find something different in their lunch box each day they become the envy of the 'other kids' instead of being laughed at.

Did you ever try a "salad roll" for instance? Any favorite combinations can be used. A particularly good one that appeals to youngsters is shredded carrots and chopped peanuts. Mix them with salad dressing and spread on a lettuce or cabbage leaf. Roll up the leaf and wrap it in waxed paper twisting the ends to hold it tight. At noon time the paper is taken off just like a candy bar and almost as good.

ICE WELLS FOR MILK AND CREAM QUALITY

A cheap and reliable means of maintaining high quality in milk and cream before shipment from the farm, is by regular use of an ice well for cooling purposes. This is especially important during warm weather conditions.

An ice well built at this season of the year makes it possible to lay in an ample supply of ice during the winter months. Construction of an ice well is simple and inexpensive. By digging and cribbing a comparatively shallow hole in the ground, ice can be prepared in the winter and used during the summer months for proper cooling of milk and cream.

Detailed plans of ice well construction may be secured from the local creamery, the District Agriculturist or the Dairy Branch of the Alberta Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

FISH OIL FOR POULTRY

The main reason for feeding fish oil is to supplement the lack of Vitamins A and D in home grown grains, says C. W. Traves, Poultry Commissioner. Vitamin A is one of our most unstable vitamins and even where a balanced feed is being fed all the time. It is often advisable to give the birds a little extra fish oil. On the first signs of colds or unthriftiness it is good practice to step up the vitamins A and D in the diet by the addition of extra fish oil.

An easy and efficient way to feed the oil is to put the night feeding of grain in a pail, pour over it one cupful of fish oil per hundred chickens, stir the grain thoroughly and feed the oil coated grain in troughs. Ample feeding space should be allowed so that all the birds get their share.

The feeding of extra fish oil should not be overdone or harm may result. Oil coated grain given every other night for four nights will be ample. In cold weather, both grain and fish oil should be warmed before mixing. In the event of an outbreak of colds the treatment may be repeated once each month. In fact, this procedure followed once each month throughout the winter is good feeding practice, especially for birds being used for breeding purposes.

Farm Radio Forum

"The Farmer and the Future" will be the general theme of National Farm Radio Forum when it returns to the air in Monday, October 28th, at 8:30 p.m.

Included under this topic will be such subjects as The Future Farm Price Program, What About Farm Taxes, Is Research Meeting the Farmers' need and many others equally interesting and important.

The Farm Radio Forum program is entering upon its Seventh season and today is looked upon as one of the outstanding programs in the field of adult education. Like all programs entering in a new field of interest, with new techniques of presentation and the original idea of group listening it has had to make various changes. However, today it has a very wide listening audience from Coast to Coast.

Why Buy A Motor Car?

The cyclist of the future will be able to freewheel up hill on the United Kingdom designed bicycle now on view at the "Britain Can Make It" Exhibition. This machine, which was specially built for display at the Exhibition, enables the cyclist to: tune into a miniature radio while he pedals, signal his approach by pressing an electric bell button, brake with a twist of the handlebars, and operate built-in lights in the mudguard by pulling a switch. "Built-in" was one of the operative words in the designing of this streamlined bicycle: it applies to every part of the machine from the instrument panel to the toolbag and pump. A Yale type anti-theft lock and concealed parking stand are part of the fittings. The most remarkable feature, however, is the unique combination of pedal and electric power. The machine employs shaft propulsion instead of a chain drive and a battery concealed in the frame work gives power to the cyclist going up hill - he can freewheel a thousand yards up a one in ten gradient. The bicycle is 15% lighter and will be appreciably cheaper than the present day machine. It will not be going into commercial production, however, for several years.

degree of stability in production which gives irrigation an important advantage over dry-land farming. This advantage is fully demonstrated by the greater density of population, adequately supported or irrigated as compared to dry-land by the thriving agricultural communities, and the prosperous urban centres in the irrigated sections. Irrigation provides for a wide diversity of crops and for the growing and feeding of live stock. It provides opportunity for home building, for maintaining a higher standard of living, and for improved educational facilities and social advantages made possible by a greater density of population.

Density of Population

The marked increase in the density of population where water is made available for crop production, for home building and the growing of food in large and certain quantities, thereby maintaining a high standard of living, is no doubt the major benefit of irrigation, and is shown in comparison of population under dry-land and irrigation conditions in Alberta.

The census returns show the number of persons in wholly dry farming areas east and south of Lethbridge as averaging 3.5 persons per square mile. The partly irrigated area averages 12.7 persons per square mile, and the irrigated areas averages 26.7 persons per square mile. The tendency is for the density of the population to increase in the irrigated areas and to decrease in the dry areas. The specialized crops such as sugar beets means smaller farms and more help, often two families on a farm.

The industrial developments resulting from irrigation are contributing in a very substantial measure to the general welfare of Southern Alberta and to the country as a whole. The main developments of this nature include two sugar factories and three canning factories where a wide assortment of products from irrigated lands are processed, in addition to pickling plants, seed cleaning plants, alfalfa meal mills, commercial appliances, cheese factories, creameries and other sundry enterprises resulting directly or indirectly from irrigation and increased trade.

Irrigation stabilizes the dry farming and ranching areas tributary to it. It makes it possible to support a family on a much smaller area than either wheat farming or ranching and has considerably increased the population sustained on the area. Increase in the population in these rural areas has resulted in much greater volume of business in the urban areas which in turn increased the population and business of the province.

Livestock Feeding

Before irrigation there was practically no finishing of livestock in Southern Alberta. The finishing of livestock to supply the meat trade with the choicest of carcasses is one of the greatest industries in the irrigation regions. Our ranches are supplying the best of cattle and sheep for that purpose.

Lethbridge Northern

The social and community advantages resulting from irrigation deserve special emphasis though these benefits are only partly indicated by any statistics available. This phase of irrigation is observed on all projects and is particularly noticeable in the history of the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation District.

Space is not available here to record the names and achievements of these water users but they have left lasting monuments. I wish also to refer to the engineers and agriculturists who visualized the benefits of irrigation,

THE HABIT STICKS

Farmers of Canada were among the shrewdest buyers of Victory Bonds during the war, records show. Once they had cleared off pre-war indebtedness and had begun to benefit by the increased wartime demand for agricultural products they became steady purchasers throughout the successive Victory Loan campaigns.

So it is not surprising that the sale of Canada Savings Bonds during the first week revealed that the man on the farm, and his wife, have not forsaken a habit which they have found to be good for themselves. From rural districts of each province, comes the same story - the sale of Canada Savings Bonds is "steady".

It has often been stated that the farmer proves a tough customer for the salesman - that he is hard to sell on the first approach; but that once sold, he stays sold. Whether or not such an assessment is a fair one in its entirety, might be argued. But at any rate, so far as bonds are concerned, the latter part of the statement appears to be correct.

Here in Strathmore, many farmers are taking advantage of the double bargain offered them through buying from the Lions Club. They are thus not only maintaining their own purchases, but helping to pay for the swimming pool, in which so many of them are directly interested, either for themselves or for the community.

Any Old Pots? Any Old Pans?

If you have any old pots or pans, or any other articles for which you no longer have a use, the Lions Club of Strathmore would welcome them for their Auction Sale of November 9th. This affair is being put on in hopes of raising sufficient money to finish paying for the Swimming Pool which was built this year, and will follow quite closely the pattern of the Sale held some three years ago in aid of the Bombed Out Children of Britain, under joint auspices of the Lions and the Calgary Kinmen.

Nearly every household has some worthwhile articles which are no longer used. . . . why not turn them into the Lions Club in order to help out their great cause? No matter how unusable you may find an article, it is almost certain that someone in the community knows "just the use" for it, so why not give them a chance to put to good use what you no longer need, and at the same time support the Lions in their noble work? This worthwhile activity merits the support of each member of the community.

Increasing Freight Rates

Appropos of the recent proposal to increase freight rates, the Canadian Wheat Pools registered a strong protest against any such action at a meeting held recently in Winnipeg.

They pointed out that while farmers all over Canada would suffer from the 20 percent increase in rates sought by the railway, the farmers of the western prairies would suffer most heavily inasmuch as they are more directly affected by the long haul, not only on the products which farmers have to buy.

They point out also that Canadian prairie farmers are further from the seaboard than any competitive agricultural group, and if the rates of freight increase, they will be at a still greater disadvantage on the world's wheat market.

Only recently there was an increase of 12½ per cent on all the farm machinery which the farmer is required to buy, and if the proposed increase in freight rates goes through, it will still further disturb any balance there may be in farm prices. It will lead to still greater demands by the farmers for higher grain prices. This in turn will be reflected by higher demands for wage and price increases, which must inevitably lead to requests for still higher freight rates.

Such a spiralling action is inevitable and it must be remembered that it is always the primary producer, and in this case, the farmer, which bears the heaviest part of the burden in this type of price scramble.

A Challenge To To-day's Youth

With education advanced, thinking and knowledge more general and a more detailed understanding of world conditions within the reach of a larger number of people the world over, than ever before, there still exists a greater unrest and confusion that is incompatible with the supposed advanced state of civilization. A misguidance of what should be simple rules of Fair Play and the Golden Rule seems to belie the high principles set forth in the Atlantic Charter. The present Adult generation has led the world into a sorry state.

Despite our clever, ingenious, marvellous inventions that should advance the happiness, progress of living, the world seems to be developing a feeling of fear and mistrust of individuals, and Nations the one against the other.

To meet and overcome the deplorable condition there is a "Crying Need for the Youth of To-day" to face this situation with a spirit of determination, courage and noble optimism that will not cease until the wrongs now existing are remedied and man to man the world o'er, shall act as brothers should.

It is tall order and we are not proud of this tremendous task to be passed on to it if faced in the same spirit of co-operation and personal endeavour which they carried throughout the war we believe they can overcome again in this and develop world conditions worthy of the highest in mankind. It is a heavy task and the road will be strewn with rocks — and our youth will need to buckle on the armor of courage, never flinching, but the goal is worth achieving.

"All Power to their Arm" — and may their Tribe Increase."

NOTICE

Under the provisions of The Noxious Weeds Act notice is hereby given to all residents of the M. D. of Bow Valley No. 40 to cut all weeds growing upon road-allowances adjoining their lands. This Council has decided that this municipality will make no attempt to clear snow from roads where weeds have not been cut. Please co-operate for the common good. Spur your neighbor to do his bit by cutting weeds on his one half of the road.

Summerfallow Hints

You may have done a good job on your summerfallow this year, but are you sure the soil is tied down? Many summerfallow fields that have been thoroughly worked during the past season to control weeds are now in such fine powdery condition that the first big wind that comes along may start the dust flying. These fields are in such danger of drifting during the winter and early spring run-off starts.

J. Mather, Supervisor of Soil Conservation, suggests that where the surface is very fine and powdery, and where the type of soil is such that a lumpy condition may be obtained by plowing, late fall plowing might be advisable. Ridding with lister shovels on the duck-foot cultivator is also recommended to prevent soil drifting. Where there is danger of water erosion, working with a duck-foot cultivator at right angles to the slope will assist considerably.

Little Rolfe's dad was always being disappointed with his sons school report. At last he promised him twenty-five cents if he did something really clever. A few days later Rolfe came home in great glee.

"Oh-oh, dad!" he exclaimed. "I can do something teacher can't!"

"What's that?" asked MacKenzie senior, delightedly.

"I can read my own writing."

The Chinese have a saying: "Give your child a licking every day. If you don't know why the child does."

Ronnie Wilkinson: "My father's a policeman. What does your father do?"

Jack Milligan: "Whatever mother tells him."

Corporal Mott: "No sir, it does not. But this one was trying to roll up the white line."

We got a special delivery note from Lyda McLean to her day informing us that all men are alike. They just have different faces so the gals can tell them apart.

Art Dunsmore on a party in Calgary, stood watching as a man entered the revolving door. As the door swung around, a pretty girl walked out.

"Darned good trick," muttered Art, "but I don't see how that guy changed his clothes so fast."
